"The future enters into us, in order to transform itself in us long before it happens." — Rainer Maria Rilke

To portray accurately the student life of O. H. H. S. is the goal of Dreki. In order to do this, the staff spends countless hours analyzing, discarding, and finally accepting a miniscule amount of the material placed before them. Clarity and readability are the by-words; every picture and every write-up must be significant not only to the class or organization it depicts, but to the school as a whole.

An over-all effect of unity plus a consideration for every facet of school life is attempted in this book. The various sections, from faculty to literary, are comprised of many hard-felt efforts and shattering disappointments. From these many trials finally emerges a work that we hope will reach the highest point possible in a scholastic literary publication, and will encompass every part of the school year.

DEDICATION

Mr. Keith W. Cunningham

It is with genuine regret, tinged with pride that we mark the transition of Keith W. Cunningham from Oxford Hills to new fields of challenge. The fifteen years of selfless service which Mr. Cunningham has given to the youth of this area represent an era distinguished by remarkable growth and achievement in the field of secondary education. An honored son of Bates and Columbia, he has constantly maintained both for himself and his school the most demanding of personal and intellectual standards. We shall miss not only the fruits of his concern and dedication, but also his kindness, warmth of personality, and scholar's wit. Our heartfelt best wishes go with Mr. Cunningham as he undertakes new responsibilities. Our earnest hope is that fulfillment and a deep inner sense of accomplishment may ever be his.

A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops.

English is the basis of our society today, through it, we are able to communicate with the around us. In order to live with others and to ma progress we must first be able to express our ide With English one may express himself to the utmeand put more feeling and emotion into his thinking

The English Department at Oxford Hills offsethree levels to each of its students — vocation business, or college preparatory. Each level is presented in such a way that not only the basics of transpage are taught, but also the student is given the opportunity to read and study some of the great literature of the ages. The combination of these two basic backgrounds enables the student to become successful member of today's society and to attach the goals that he has established for himself.

FORE IGN ANGUAGES

Mr. Aver, Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Trebilcock, Mrs. Lancina.

The Foreign Language Department of Oxford Ils offers courses in French and Latin. Its faculty embers have created an interesting program of ady that includes a thorough study of the languages, past and present, the history of the counces that these languages represent, and a hope of ently speaking the language. Thus, the mind of estudent is opened to a new world of meditation that of associating the culture of these foreign aguages with our own culture, today. The goal the department is to make the student see how ar English language was established upon the ending of these two languages; and how we can fact, through the study of French and Latin. arm about our own culture.

Mathematics is offered in two divisions at Oxf Hills — college and general. College math is signed to give the student pursuing further edution a knowledge of many of the concentrated at of mathematics, through Algebra, Geometry, Advanced Math, Each division of the course adapted to meet the needs of the individual a dents.

The general course covers topics basic to mathematics. Rather than studying the more tailed concepts of the college course, the stud sharpens his skills in arithmetic through use solving problems dealing with today's world.

Mathematics is not merely numbers to memorand put on paper, but an art or philosophy which the greatest minds of the world have decated their lives. It is more than a required cour for it teaches one and all to think.

SCIENCE

L. to R.: Mr. Ball, Mr. Harter, Mr. Littlefield, Mr. Austin, Mr. Christopher, Mr. Johnstone

One of the greatest thrills in life comes from disovering something for the first time. The science curses at O. H. H. S. are geared to the purpose of flowing each student to investigate those problems nost intriguing to him. Personal achievement and he acquisition of knowledge become more imporint than any grade that is given. Another reason for rudying science is to develop a systematic aproach which one can apply to problems in the ature. A student will learn to evaluate his own work and to acquire mental discipline. All facets of the course provide part of the background a person needs to achieve his goals in life.

Being able to manage a household in an efficient economical manner should be of manneous to any girl planning to become a housewild. Home Economics Department offers a four year for girls to teach them how to cook, and tune a household smoothly. It also offers a year courses to freshman, sophomore, and jurgirls who wish to learn the basic essentials homemaking, and a special one-year course senior girls and boys. Although this subject been available to senior boys for four years in this is the first year that a mixed class — gand boys—has been conducted in this subject.

NDUSTRIAL

Mr. MacGregor, Mr. Allen.

he Industrial Arts Department offers to the boys going on to college an opportunity to learn a de. Although much of the student's time is spent he classroom learning basic principles and theopertaining to his line of study, he is allowed to by his learning in the shop. Throughout the first see years, the student studies wood-working, alworking and automotive mechanics; in his oth year, he specializes in one of the three areas, a student also studies basic subjects — English, hematics, science, and social sciences — so that may have the essential background to become a tributing member of our society.

Mr. Starbird.

Mr. Gouin, Mrs. Danforth,

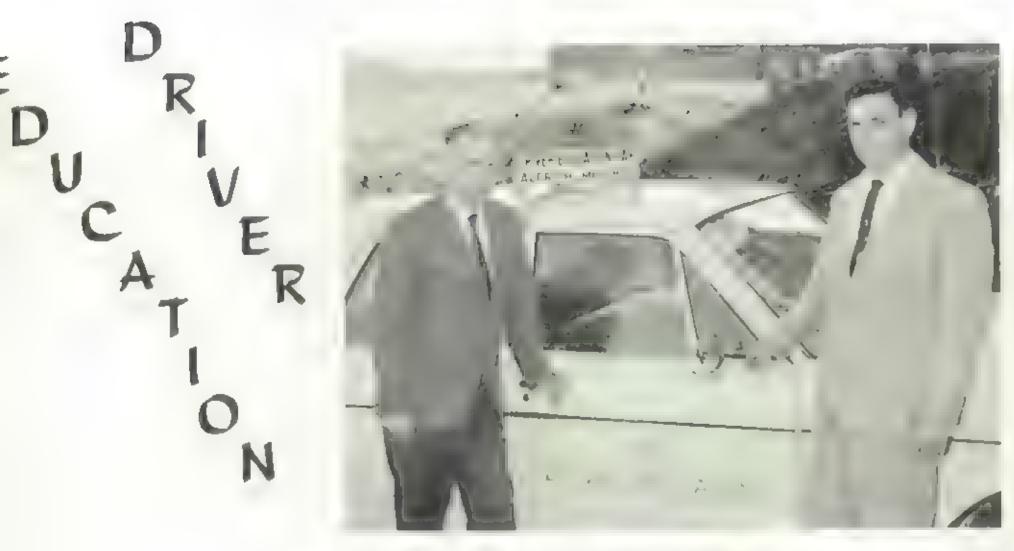

A picture is worth a thousand words.

Physical education is a non-academic course quired of all students. Among the numerous a covered in this course are soccer, basketball, g nastics, softball, and baseball.

The major objectives of the Physical Education Department are to promote physical fitness and develop skills in various athletics, all of which be very beneficial in later years. Personal pride satisfaction can be gained through participation sports. One also develops a knowledge of the sports and good sportsmanship. The appreciation individual sports is increased through use of new gymnasium.

Mr. Hacker, Mr. Kugell

In a mobile America, the car and its use play a rategic part. The Oxford Hills driver education rogram is designed to give the student a full unerstanding of the automobile and its functions.

The students meet with their instructor two eriods a week. One period is spent in learning the ales and regulations of driving, and the other is bent on the road, driving with a skilled teacher, hey learn not only how to operate the car, but also ow to respect its potentially dangerous powers, then incorrectly handled. At the conclusion of the ourse, the students receive their permits, and are tell on their way to being responsible citizens in an automotive society.

GUIDANCE

Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Clifford, Mrs. Hall.

Through guidance a student is helped to find the by to a successful future. Leading a student in the ght direction is the task of Oxford Hills guidance burselors — Robert Clifford, Barbara Hall, and obert O'Connor. It is by no means an easy job. Many of the problems that burden high school adents eventually fall upon the shoulders of the pidance counselors. Schedule conflicts, vocations, allege choices, and personal problems are expected of what a counselor encounters during the burse of the day. It is through this guidance that a student is able to understand himself better ad to recognize his interests in order to select the oreer for which he will be best qualified.

In addition to assisting students, the guidance conselors arrange interviews and informal meet-gs with representatives from institutions of higher arning, branches of the armed services, and other overnmental agencies. They also arrange and su-croise such tests as the College Entrance Example ation Boards, the National Merit Scholarship ualifying Tests, and the General Aptitude Test attery. With the results of these tests and the nowledge of the student, the guidance counselors to able to guide individuals on to the right path of a successful and rewarding life.

The two secretaries of the principal, work together with the secretaries in the superintender office play an important part in the organizat and running of the school and its business matter Aided by the intercom system and the other fraculties in the new building, they have keepen the records and files in order and have hand school matters quickly and efficiently. A larmajority of school business is taken care of these secretaries. Without them we could maintain one of the finest school systems in the standard control of the secretaries.

RINCIPALS

Mr. Marston, Mr. Reed, Mr. Pendleton

Mr. Cunningham, the principal; Mr. Pendleton d Mr. Reid, the two assistant principals; and r. Marston, co-ordinator of student activities, institute a very important part of the O.H.H.S ministration. It is their job to see that the school d its activities function properly at all times en though they carry a great burden, they are ways willing to help students with individual oblems.

Mr. Cunningham

SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. Libby, Mr. Jacques

Mr. Libby, superintendent, and Mr. Jacques, assistant superintendent, are the co-ordinators of S. A. D. #17. It is their duty to appoint new faculty members, approve the curriculum, and administer the policies concerning our school. With their guidance, the district has been able to supply many new educational facilities for its relative youth.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Consolidation has now been completed in School Administrative District #17. This year the Board of Directors for SAD #17 have worked hard to keep the present schools running efficiently, and to bring about the opening of the new building. Since last year there have been new additions to the board and today it consists of five representatives for Norway, five for Paris, two for West Paris, three for Oxford, two for Waterford, two for Harrison, one for Otisfield, and one for Hebron. It is because of the labor and ambition of these twenty-one people that we are able to receive a better education.

The members of the Board of Directors are: Glenn Chute, Chairman; Raymond Knight; Helen Weeks; Winona Chase; Roger Roderick; Oayma Colby; John Parsons; Robert Kessell; Lester Soule; Keith Emery; Sayward Lamb; Irene Bean; Donald Briggs; Norma West; Neil Dow; Esther Allen; Robert Harlow; Gerald Forrest; Boardman Fish; Raynor Brown; and Leland Millett, Jr.

SENIOR HISTORY

In September, 1963, we, the largest class ever to enter Oxford Hills High School, walked through its doors as meek and timid freshmen, unaware of what the following four years would hold in store for us. We became a part of this high school when the Sophomores entertained us at the traditional Freshman Reception. That first year was filled with hopes and doubts about high school. Little did we know then just how much these high school years would mean to us. Adjusting ourselves to the routine of high school life and accepting the jovial "ribbing" of the upperclassmen were the main problems of that year.

With the sophomore year came the feeling that we were actually a part of this school, for now, there was a freshman class beneath us. As Sophomores, we acquired the role of hosts to the Freshmen at the Freshman Reception. That year was unique for the high school, for it was the first year in which both the Norway and South Paris students were combined in one building. Having oriented ourselves the year before, we spent our second year in an atmosphere of security, and began to enjoy high school life.

The arrival of class rings in the fall of our junior year made us feel very proud, for they gained for us the title of upperclassmen. The main event of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, which we sponsored. With its theme, "Evening In Paris," the Prom brought the junior year to a very festive close. Caught in the whirlwind of studies, festivities, and money-raising projects, the first three years slipped by very rapidly.

The senior year started amid great congestion. The arrival of the Oxford and West Paris students caused crowded conditions, but we didn't object. In fact, we had only one thought in mind — graduation. February 27, 1967, was perhaps the most historic day in this area since the creation of S.A.D. #17: the students of Oxford Hills High School moved into the recently completed building on Main and Fair Streets. For the seniors, this new building seemed to be the finishing touch to a final, eventful year at O.H.H.S.

And now as the prospects of graduation draw near for the Class of 1967, we are enveloped in a state of disbelief that we can be experiencing the final few weeks of high school. Soon we will be entering a totally new world of independence. No longer will we be subject to the routine of school life about which we so often complained. We will be entering today's society as young citizens, striving to achieve the personal goals that we have established for ourselves. Even though each member of this class will go his separate way, he will not forget these four years. As time goes on, he will realize just how much this high school and its faculty have given to him. And so, to Oxford Hills High School and the faculty members we, the Class of 1967, would like to express our gratitude for giving to us, the happiest four years of our lives.

SUCCESS

Junior Class

Our junior year is certainly the most enchanted of the four years of high school. It is during this time of our life that we seem to know where we are going and what we are doing. The experience of the preceding years and our youth are very helpful.

The work and trials of school life reach their peak at this time, but they are not begrudged and are scarcely noticed for this is also a period of greater trust by the teachers. New responsibilities and pride in our class and in the school itself spur us to greater achievements every day.

The accomplishments of the junior class yea were numerous. Among these were food sales dances, and the sponsoring of the Junior-Senior Prom. In each, the necessary hard work was offse by the enjoyment gained. We have reached many of our goals this year which were set for us and many of our own. It is our hope that even more of these goals may be obtained throughout our senior year.

THING: GO FINE..

Sophomore Class

These students are now using some of the school's finest equipment and textbooks which will enable them to expand their knowledge to ever greater lengths. Our class sponsored the Freshman Reception, a dance and various other fundinging activities dring the year. Those who attend college courses will be able to become the architects lawvers doctors, and nurses of the fature. Those taking business courses will become tomorrows business leaders and those in the Industrial Arts Courses will become themse hances and technicians of tomorrow.

We look forward to new opportunities for service to both school and community in our new school. Our coming role as upperclassmen will enable us to fill more solid places of leadership in all phases of both academic and athletic life and to prepare ourselves not only for the years immediately following high school but for life as well.

Freshman Class

The largest class ever to enter into Oxford Hills High School is this year's Freshman class which consists of 109 girls and 110 boys.

There is no doubt that the class of '67 has had one of the most confusing years in the history of Oxford Hills High. It is usually hard enough for the Freshman to adjust to high school routines without adding to the confusion of moving into a new building.

The Freshman reception was held on September 23, 1968, and everybody had a wonderful time. It was a very successful evening during which the student body welcomed us to Oxford Hills High School. We enjoyed the refreshments which were served and danced to the music of the Dynamic Five.

The Activities Committee for the class of '70 consists of Ronald Thompson, president; Edna Ross, vice-president; Rachel Fuller, secretary; Cheryl Allen, treasurer; Timothy Clark, and Jeff Kilgore. They will plan some very interesting activities to help us to achieve our aims

The Freshman members of the Student Council are David Trask, Alan Bean, Herbert Adams, Lesley Blaquiere and Jean Martin. We are sure that they will represent our class to the fullest of their capabilities.

The Student Council, like every other organization at Oxford Hills, has expanded both in size and in responsibility this year. Primary concern is given to the planning of the school calendar, boosting school spirit, and promoting harmony between students and faculty. Council members also aid in numerous outside activities which benefit the school body as a whole. For example, they have organized the Citizen Scholarship Drive.

Weekly meetings are held in accordance with Roberts' Rules for Parliamentary Procedure. They are directed by Damel Allen, Student Council President and are under the supervision of Mr. Richard Marston, Faculty Advisor. The twenty-four members of the council equally represent all four classes. They are the student body's voice in school government who work diligently to enact programs acceptable to students and faculty.

The annual induction of new members into the National Honor Society this year took place in March. Chosen from the juniors and seniors, these mitiates must display outstanding character, scholarship, leadership, and service. As he receives his pin, each new member lights his candle and takes his place in the nationwide organization.

The major project of the National Honor Society is to help the Norway-Paris Chapter of the American Field Service raise funds to sponsor a foreign exchange student. Although no student from abroad came this year it is hoped that more will come in the future.

The new members of the National Honor Society this year were Seniors: Terry Grover, Philip Sandburg, Thomas Gallant, Barry Roderick, Carolyn Watson, Patricia Blacquiere, Linda Daniels, Carleen Haines, Jeanne Nadeau, and Nancy Chute. The only junior initiated into the society this year was Judy Hawkes.

INDEPENDENT STUDY

Independent Study is a new innovation in the curriculum of O.H.H.S. Courses offered under this program are those not ordinarily offered in the student program because of a lack of interest or facilities. In some cases these subjects are test subjects for the possibility of offering them as regular courses in the future. A student pursuing a subject under the independent study programs works by himself with the exception of weekly meetings with the supervising instructor at which the subject is discussed, questions asked and evaluations made.

This year, for the first time courses were offered in the Sciences under the directions of Mr. Johnstone, including Advanced Chemistry, Advanced Physics, and Advanced Biology. Mr. Johnson again supervised students pursuing independent study in Western Civilization II, Medieval History, Greek Architecture, Cicero, and Etruscan Civilization.

NATIONAL MERIT

The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests re given to members of the junior class in March, 36. These examinations are the basis for award-merit Scholarships. Early in the senior year see scores are sent back to the school

Semi-finalists were announced in September and nt on to compete for scholarships. Letters of mmendation were awarded to Nancy Chute, omas Gallant, and Ellen Haverinen, who scored t below this level.

DIRIGO DELEGATES

The delegates who attended Dirigo last summer truly realized an unforgettable experience. The week was spent learning the importance of government activities and the part which an individual may play by participation in community activities. Innumerable friends were made at Dirigo, some of whom we never shall forget.

During the stay at Dirigo, each person is given the opportunity to meet many prominent people from the state of Maine. Visitors this year were Senator Muskie, former Governor Reed, and Judge Archibald, not to mention numerous others. We hope that those who attend Dirigo in the future will find their week at Colby College or at the University of Maine as meaningful to them as our week was to us.

Reverence

Under the guidance of Mr. Donald Gouin and President, Warren Grant, the enlarged and improved Key Club undertook various school and community projects during the academic year. Some of the undertakings consisted of aiding Mr. Rozos with the projects of the Norway-Paris Recreation Center, preparing a hunters' breakfast; constructing fences for the school skating rink; cleaning the armory after the Cabaret sponsored by the Stephens Memorial Hospital Auxiliary; acting as ushers during open-house for the high school; and selling calendars. Also, the club contributed to the Operation Santa Claus project and to the Stephens Memorial Hospital Fund. With the helping hand of the Kiwanis fathers this small, energetic group of boys has become a major part of student activities.

Membership Pledge

I pledge on my honor to uphold the objectives of Key Club International, to build my home, school and community; to serve my Nation and God and combat all forces which tend to undermine these institutions.

Objects of the Key Club

To provide initiative and leadership. To provide experience in living and working together.

To serve the school and community.

To cooperate with the school principal.

To prepare for useful citizenship.

To accept and promote the follows

To accept and promote the following ideals:

To give primacy to the human and spiritual, rather than to the material values of life.

To encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships.

To promote the adoption and application of higher standards in scholarship, sportsmanship, and social contacts.

To develop by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive, and serviceable citizenship.

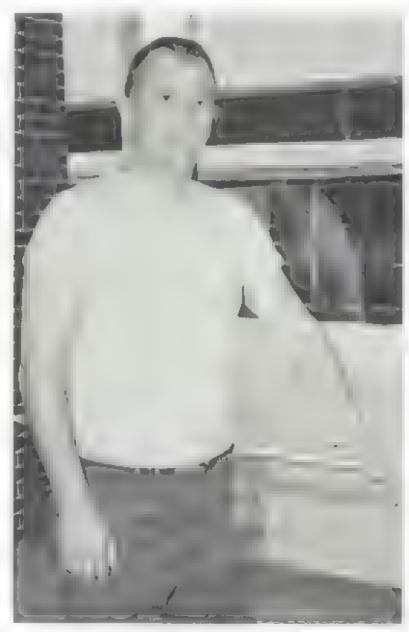

To provide a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render unselfish service, and to build better communities.

To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which makes possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and good will.

Prize speaking in past years has been highly competitive, with participants committing to memory dramatic, tragic, comic or oratorical readings as well as original pieces for use at intramital, regional and state competitions. This year the prize speaking at Oxford Hills has been purely for the personal enjoyment of the students, who were aided by Miss Rogers with voice, interpretation and presentation.

Speaking before an audience enriches a person, by improving his voice and poise, making him more self-confident in his class and in the world. We may hope that in the future, by the acquisition of a regular advisor, prize speaking may again be an activity at Oxford Hills.

F&L PROMOTE

Students who are taking a foreign language or those who have taken a foreign language in previous years form the French and Latin Club. This club is both social and cultural, offering much variety in enrichment and entertainment. This year, meetings were not able to be held as regularly as in the past; however, the club has held its annual banquet for the initiation of new members. Its meetings are comprised of various business matters, lectures, and films representing a number of foreign countries. These lectures broaden the foreign cultural background and understanding of the members. The club has two folksinging groups, an orchestra, a soloist, and a drill team all of whom perform at every meeting. The officers of the club are Jeanne Nadeau, President, the first girl to be elected to this position in the club's sixteen year history; Thomas Gallant, Vice President; Susan Bean, Secretary; and Theodore Deroche, Treasurer. Mr. Ayer serves as advisor.

During the second year of its organization, Les Pariassiers has brought many liours of pleasure to its members. The students of the third and fourth year French classes plus the alimnicompose the membership of the chib, which meets every other Monday. Each meeting provides for the members an emicliment of his cultural background and further understanding of France and its people. It has become customary to hold the regular business meetings on Friday during activity period in order to devote the fullest amount of time for presentations on Monday. The business meeting usually is dedicated to finid causing activities.

Several highlights of the year have been the Christmas supper exclusively for members, a public crepes dinner held in honor of March Gras. February 7, and the years "piece de resistance -a trip to Montreal to absorb the city's cultural and historical benefits. Those helping to make all our plans possible are the officers. DRAMA CLUB

The most rapidly-growing school organization at OHHS is the Drama Club. Having concluded in the spring of 1966 with the overwhelming success, The Wizard Of Oz, produced jointly with the music department, and with the first annual initiation party, the members were prepared in the fall to undertake the Agamemnon, a Greek tragedy. The many long hours put in by the cast, Miss Rogers and the technical advisor, Mr. Johnson resulted in a much-commented-on production of a difficult classical work.

Moving from the old surroundings into a new auditorium, preparing for the Spring comedy, The Mouse That Roared, operating the Bookstore and taking active parts in the weekly drama class has kept this spirited group very basy. But members know that Drama Club is not only extra-curricular, but sometimes a twenty-four hour occupation.

Latin Club members learn of the culture of the ancient world and at the same time have fun. To increase their knowledge, they have joined the Junior Classical League, which provides the club with information on ancient holidays, Roman games, and the preparation of a Roman meal

With a steadily increasing membership the club has been able to plan more activities. Every other Monday evening at 7:00 P.M. the members of the Latin Club can be found in the school library holding their meetings with their officers—Stephen Sessions, President; David Duchette, Vice President; Stephen Frost, Treasurer; and Ronald Thompson, Secretary—presiding. Mr. Theodore Johnson serves the club as advisor

Students interested in learning about the heritage of the Western World are invited to attend the meetings. The broad cultural concerns of the club give it wide appeal for all students interested in the influence of the Roman Culture on Western Civilization.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

The purpose of the Industrial Arts Club is to further the knowledge among the students and community of Industrial Arts activities in the school. During each meeting aside from the business, the members enjoy a film or speaker. With each year the membership has grown, increasing the hopes of success in the future.

The Future Business leaders of America is an active club consisting of eighty-two members from the sophomore, the junior, and the senior classes. Each student is taking at least one business subject. The local chapter is honored to be a part of the National Organization of Future Business Leaders located in Washington, D. C.

To develop competent, aggressive business leadership and to participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of business and the community are the goals striven for by the F.B.L.A. Various projects were undertaken to achieve these goals—such as Thanksgiving baskets for shut-ins, Operation Santa Claus cases, and the addressing of envelopes for the polio drive and the alumni Earning money is a necessary function of this club as it is all clubs, so this year the F.B.L.A. earned money selling candy. This money is used to purchase certificates and pins which are awarded during the year to shorthand and typing students. Under the supervision of Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Ross, the club has been very successful and hopes the future will be as rewarding for the members of the F.B.L.A.

OF AMERICA

The Future Homemakers of America is comprised of students presently or previously enrolled in home economics courses. Regular monthly meetings are held with a variety of programs presented — such as guest speakers, panel discussions, and project planning.

A point system is promoted by the local chapter whereby members earn pins, guards, compacts, or bracelets as a reward for their achievements. Each spring these awards are presented at the annual Mother and Daughter Banquet. Also, awarded by the F.H.A. at graduation will be the Crisco Trophy, sponsored by Proctor and Gamble Co., and the American Agricultural Award presented to an outstanding homemaking student.

Hard at work

"Dreki" staff members work several hours weekly to present to the student body this — the journal of school life at Oxford Hills High School, 1966-1967. Each page is a result of many, long, hard hours on the part of all who are concerned. Behind each page, presented here, he many sheets of scrapped lay-outs and write-ups. With each picture we try to capture the various facets of school life.

This year's "Dreki," we hope, will surpass all previous yearbooks. Under the able guidance of Mr. Johnson, our advisor, and Thomas Marcotte, our editor, we are able to present you with this yearbook.

DREKI BUSINESS

The "Dreki" business staff, composed of a small energetic group of students, provides financial support for the yearbook through business advertisement solicitations and individual subscriptions. The best efforts of all members were required to make the 1966-67 "Dreki" a financial success. Under the direction of Mr. Conary, advisor, and Terry Grover, manager, the salesmen proved a valuable asset to the school.

Advisor, Mr. Conary

This year a group of students began a new endeavor in the world of journalism; a literary magazine. Three co-editors, Nancy Chute, Tom Marcotte and Paul Guay, analyzed, criticized, discarded or accepted work contributed by a group of students. After this the towns were canvassed for advertisements to provide funds for the publication of the magazine under the direction of Stephen Sessions, Business Manager.

When the final selections of prose, poetry and art work had been made and the layouts were completed, the end result went off to press at the Advertiser-Democrat Office in Norway.

Ithaka symbolizes many literary journeys. It is intended to be published tri-annually and sold on local newsstands. The first issue consumated long hours of hard work and attempted to show the many varied styles of writing present in a school the size of Oxford Hills High School. Mr. Theodore Johnson serves as staff advisor.

NEWSPAPER

This year an enlarged newspaper staff has worked toward the goal of producing a high-quality newspaper. Considerably larger in size, and published monthly rather than quarterly, the paper will be able to cover school activities and events more comprehensively.

This year the seniors, who have published the paper in the past, hope to bring about many improvements in its structure. Plans include changing the name, printing by a professional printer, and establishing the newspaper staff as a separate club rather than as a project of the senior class. The thirty staff members have enjoyed working this year under the direction of Mr. Pierce, our advisor and Patricia Hoyle, editor-in-chief.

LIBRARIANS

Dedicated to the serving of Oxford Hills students and faculty members, the library contains approximately seven thousand books. Mr. Johnson, our head librarian, and Mrs. Harter, his assistant, are aided by eighteen student librarians. The library is rich not only in book resources, but also in periodicals. There are currently eighty-nine periodicals to which the hibrary subscribes. A new microfilm reader is already seeing much use, and the back issues of thirty-two magazines are now represented in our files on microfilm.

Student librarians aid in all phases of library work, both before and behind the scenes. They have not only the opportunity of helping the school, but also furthering their own knowledge through an understanding and appreciation of both libraries and books.

FIRST

The purpose of this organization is to promote safety within the jurisdiction of the school. Although it is primarily concerned with regulating traffic in the school parking areas, the Safety Council is also interested in preventing accidents in such school sponsored recreations as archery and rifle practice. Periodically changing the material on its bulletin board to accommodate the various seasonal activities, this industrious body of students, comprised of representatives from each class, attempts to keep the school aware of potential hazards. Past projects have included road rallies, safety assemblies, and trips to the state police barracks. Future projects envision traffic court, a dance, and hopefully, a system in the new school that will provide each student and the faculty drivers with his own parking space. This year the council has registered all cars parked on school property and prosecutes violators of the traffic rules. Another of their duties is to sand the walks in winter since icy pavements often prove dangerous. The Safety Council does not, however, involve itself in work alone - color movies are shown stressing the importance of driving carefully. Thus the object of this staff can be summed up in the following manner - enjoy school life while promoting safety.

MONITORS

Formerly the monitors were a common sight around the halls of Oxford Hills High School. As the move to the new building occurred the monitors soon became unnecessary except for ginding the student body to assemblies.

Our football team practiced long and hard to shape itself into a team that would prove a challenge to the opposition. Although there were only three returning lettermen, the boys ended the season with a 4-4 record. They sustained many injuries throughout the season which resulted in many new boys playing in the games.

The team lost their first game by a wide margin, but the boys kept up their determination and drive knowing that they were gaining valuable experience.

We have high hopes for the 1967 season with many new boys hoping to become experienced players. The captains for next season are John Williams, captain, and Bill Newcomb, co-captain. These boys will replace this year's captains, Ted Deroche and Warren Grant.

BASKETBALL

The OHHS Basketball team has improved for my reasons. First of all they have been fortunate be able to choose from the best players of the w towns in the district. Also, our team had mared for the '66 - '67 season. Much credit, too. In the Mr. Ball. The various other reasons for their ways are numerous, including such things as sool spirit and spectator participation.

We had many individual stars this year. The rting team consisted of Dale Chapman, Tom rtis, David Bryant, Craig Edmunds, Gary Farrar,

William Haynes, Captain and Barry Roderick. Williams Haynes maintained a twenty-point-plus average. Barry Roderick went to the Western Maine Foul Shooting Tournament and placed an outstanding second place

The OHHS Varsity Basketball Team was also active in post-season play. A round-robin brought together next year's varsity and junior varsity. This tournament created much interest for our basketball fans. As a result, the season looks bright for our younger players

RIFLE CLUB

The Rifle Club is an organization established to teach correct procedures in the use of firearms, and to sharpen the marksmanship of club members. With continuous range practice, the skill of the members has steadily increased.

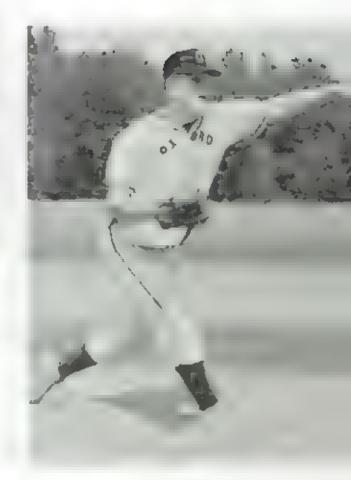

During the winter months, the Rifle Club met and held practices during activity period and after school. Due to the move this year the club has not always been able to find a time or place to shoot. Hopes were then set for the spring months, but difficulties arose in finding areas where practice could be held. However, the annual NRA Safe Hunter Course sponsored by the Rifle Club was held this year. The Rifle Club sincerely hopes that the present members or any future members have not been discouraged by this year's mactivity.

OXFORD BASEBALL

Although the Oxford High School baseball team did not have a very successful season, there were numerous reasons for this. Due to the lack of a substantial number of players, there were no substitutes to take the place of injured or ill players. The weather did not lend itself as a help, but as a hindrance, forcing the cancellation of many games throughout the baseball season.

Each player enjoyed himself during each game, with due credit given to the coach, Mr. Hancock, who is also girls' basketball coach and English teacher.

The team consisted of Philip Smith, a senior; Berry Balanger, Mike Perkins, Larry Toothaker, juniors; and Bobby Delcuore, and Neil Smith, both sophomores. The team finished the season with four losses and no wins. Nevertheless, team spirit was high and shared by each player. This after all is the object of sports.

The Oxford High softball team had a very successful season with five wins and three losses. Due to the fine coaching of Mr. Trebilcock, we had our best season in interscholastic competition.

Everyone from freshman to senior contributed her best in bringing about the wins with which they were credited. The infield — Kristine Kane, Colleene Dillon, Peggy Toothaker and Linda Martin — supported by the outfield — Susan Milligan, Gloria Lowe, and Sandra Martin — did their best to keep the opposing teams from scoring.

Through our victories, we learned that sportsmanship is one of the contributing factors of a fair contest; respect for members of the opposing team also plays a major role.

WEST

BASEBALL

The West Paris Bobcats enjoyed a very profitable season last year under the supervision of John Kelly. Previous to coaching us, Mr. Kelly had been the captain of his team during his senior year at Saint Francis College. Mr. Kelly worked the boys hard and the team ended with a fairly successful record.

The Bobcats started their practices in early spring in the gym. The practices continued to be held in the gym for about three weeks, concentrating all efforts on the pitching department. Pitching was led by Gary Farrar and Tom Curtis.

Jake Oja, Dave Olson, Duane Abbott, Joe Lamb, and Mitch Ring backed Gary and Tom in the infield. Ron Hazelton, Mike Cyr, and Rick Chase were the outfield men.

Having many tough breaks, the boys finally ended their season with a four win — five loss record. The Bobcats look forward to playing ball as a part of the Oxford Hills Team.

Our first softball practice of the season found fifteen players, our manager Ann Holt, and our coach Bruce Tyner on the ball field. We tried hard to successfully catch the balls hit us by the coach. From this workout we all found muscles that had long since been forgotten!

Due to early setbacks, we found that we definitely needed to work harder during our practices as well as at a game. Our increased efforts led us to a victory over Oxford.

On a very cold spring day we went to Andover, where shivering uncontrollably, we were defeated. This defeat at Andover sparked a rousing victory over our long-time rivals, Woodstock. However, our victorious spirit was short-lived for we ended the season with a loss at Casco.

We are glad to say that there was no classical "first string", but that all the girls enjoyed the fun of the games. This fun and hard work was administered by Coach Tyner who previous to coaching us had coached Little League Baseball for two years.

Although we only won four out of fourteen games, we tried to achieve a good sense of sportsmanship and good school spirit for our games next year. Andy Valley League competition was keen, the team lacked experience. We have returning four of our first string varsity lettermen, and an up and coming J. V. squad.

Half of our games lest were lost by only one run' We had an excellent defensive club, probably the best in the league our batting average dropped considerably however.

Wavne, a four year letterman, pitched in eleven of the fourteen games, held the highest batting average the highest shigging average, pitched with the lowest carned run average and covered first base and left field. Barry was a great asset at shortstop, hiving the high batting and fielding average and the most runs, stolen bases, and bases on balls. He was also voted the best shortstop in the Andy Valley League.

It is agreed that our home game victory over Edward Little was the best game seen in this area. Our goal for next season is to have all our games equal the quality of the Edward Little upset.

The Viking Choir and the Vikettes have made themselves well known in the school and community with public concerts, exchange concerts, and appearances before private groups. Quickly, the enrollment of the choral section of the music department has increased to one hundred and ten, with a greater participation by the male members of the student body.

The Vikettes, who are selected by audition sing popular and folk music usually without accompaniment. Also included in the music department are the All-State delegates who are selected by state auditioners. At these auditions the students must perform a state selected song as well as a song sung at sight. All of these groups have made the music department prominent among school activities.

The Oxford Hills High School Cross Country team participated in six regional meets during the fall. Throughout these meets, six races were run against eleven different teams. Due to a relatively small squad and lack of experience, not many races were won; but with the help of Coach Verrill, the boys hope to have a much more successful season next year.

Back this year from Mechanic Falls was senior, Ken Salls, who ran well throughout the season. Prospects look good for next year with the hopeful return of juniors Larry Wardsworth, Kevin Heikkinen, Ronald Webb, and Stanley Brett. Also, four underclassmen will be returning along with more boys who wish to join the squad.

Hard practice during the season proved worthwhile when the boys finished fourth in the conference meet at Gould Academy, November 2nd. There were many strong opponents throughout the year and we lost many races; but as Coach Verrill says, "The Team is young."

This past year was a disappointing one for the Oxford Hills Golf Team. The year went by with nine losses due to tougher competition than usual.

There were five returning lettermen: Sam Giles Bruce Downing, Ricky Davis, Bernard Scribner, and Tom Gallant Coaches Fallon and Whitcomb tried new types of practice sessions with the boys. Our newer members will benefit from last year's experience.

Even though we were defeated in area matches, we are proud to say that we have achieved recognition in the Andy Valley League Championship. This was won by Bruce Downing, a senior last year. He won the championship on a twenty-one hole course.

Our good sportsmanship was shown when the boys took their losses good-heartedly. They are hoping for a better season this spring and for better results through practice.

PEACE

From nothing God formed the heavens above,

And from within brought forth the need for Peace,
He adorned the world with the hope of love,
For without such, the world of life would cease.
He gently spread this need o'er all the world,
Which sank in the soul of the sea and earth,
And stopped the cursed sea that doth grind and swirl.
For Peace is a faith as 'twas from its birth.

Peace can conquer the quest of war and hate,
And bring forth the truth which is sought a lot.
God and Peace can guide the hand of Fate,
And bring joy in the heart of Camelot.

The seed of Peace is buried in the sod,
He who digs to find, gives his heart to God.

TO RIDE A BUCKING HORSE

A bucking horse; a bucking horse; to ride a bucking horse

They tie him down and tickle him

With pins to free his soul.

With loving caresses and brutal shoves they force him to a peak.

Then out he goes all hot and full a bucking mount to be tamed.

The cowboy hangs on, he spurs his mount, he tugs the rope and pulls at the brass ring.

And now he goes down, he goes, to throw his torturer, but yet not to let him escape.

He reels and turns, and twists and bucks, then on the top the final dash.

Then soft it is all over, the horse is still, his course is run, for now he is done.

But, yet, he may buck again for a bucking horse is always a bucking horse at heart

And to ride a bucking horse is the greatest thing a man can do.

YOUNG LOVE

Free as a river flowing in spring, warm as the sun of June, innocent as a new born babe.

That's what young love is.

That's what young love is.

Innocent as the dew of summer;
moods versatile as circumstance requires;
fragrance sweeter than flowers in bloom.

'Tis said to be momentary — a thing of little value.

Yet what right have we to judge the lives of others,
when ourselves we confuse?

Damned and torn yet still thriving,
as unfairly judged by me as by you —

A TRAGEDY OF TRACK AND FIELD

I put a shot into the air;
It fell to earth; I do know where.
Now this will tell my tale of woe,
It bounced upon the coach's toe...

Next time the javelin I hurled,

His scream was simply out of this world.

He hit me! Do you think that fair?

All that I did was part his hair...

When next the discus I did try,

I struck him just above the eye.

He chased me round about the track,

And warned me never to come back. . .

A rest is what the coach needs now,

He overheard me anyhow.

I said it just so he could hear —

Don't forget; there's always next year. . .

I was a seed floating thru the air whose destiny was determined by the ceasing of the wind.

My fate was to fall between a great oak and a maple tree which stood out in the large forest.

With the help of God's environment I started developing into a young tree

My roots sought the roots of the great oak

But the oak was loving so she nursed me.

I grew larger developing the pure ways of the great oak

But now the roots of the maple are approaching mine and they show a greater nourishment

And a Purer way.

I fear for now I love the great oak but this trap caused by Satan is tempting.

My fate is now determined by me with the help of a small twig of the great oak which has twined around me pulling me from this hell

But are we strong

Or is this hell stronger?

Wanda Pechnik

the mist rose and with it she appeared down
down into the valley she went always searching reaching
but never to find herself!
Carol Rice

A moonless night, and I walk alone by a lake.

I gaze skyward and am filled with beauty.

My eyes fall to the glassed-over lake and the stars in their remote nothingness are below me.

My soul expands and I feel, I know that to step into the water would mean to fall for an eternity towards the stars.

My feet, but inches from the abyss, step . . .

I walk home crying in wet sneakers.

RATIONALIZATION OF MEN

Row on row

The corrigated monsters

Lift their massive heads.

Copper, iron, coal

Intermingle - riotous colors,

Heaven sent superstructure.

Hearing, breathing, writhing.

Life blood coursing through granite veins.

Serenely viewing men's frenzied attempts.

Only to remain silent when they are gone.

Still — man is alive mountains are not.

Sarah Gibson

PURPLE, PLASTERED PEOPLE

Purple, plastered people push

Perfection is their ideal

Though they know not but to squeal

Crazed incapabilities prevail

Ruinous creeping minds assail

Tasks they know nothing of

Though their self — confidence is love

Of perfection, pride and beauty,

Its direction is twisted.

They think of surface wealth

And regard the inner self

With stupidity and stealth.
